Don't Forget About These Coupler Options!

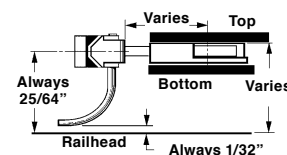

Kadee® 20-Series Couplers

There are many reasons why 20-Series couplers are the perfect fit for your coupler installation. 20-Series couplers come in three different shank lengths and three coupler head offsets. They have metal knuckles & insulated shanks to prevent hot chase scenarios. The kit includes multiple gearboxes (#213 and #232 or the #234), including the #212 talgo truck adaptors, and #213 .055" ID & .100" ID bushing/sleeves; you don't have to purchase additional accessories to body mount or truck mount knuckle couplers when using 20-Series couplers.

Kadee® 30-Series Couplers

There are many reasons why 30-Series couplers are the right choice for your coupler installation. 30-Series couplers come in three different shank lengths and three coupler head offsets. They have metal knuckles & insulated shanks to prevent hot chase scenarios. The kit includes the #233 gearboxes with various assembly options to fine-tune your mounting height. The #233 gearbox requires minimal mounting space, so it fits where many other gearboxes won't, like many older locomotives.
